UNOFFICIAL COMPLETED RETURNS GIVEN

OLSON HAD LEAD OF 187 OVER HIS NEAREST OPPONENT

DAVIS SUPPORTERS MAY DEMAND A RECOUNT OF THE VOTE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, June 21.—Floyd B. Olson, Hennepin county attorney, was nominated for governor on the farmer-labor ticket, complete unofficial returns show. Olson had a lead of 187 over his nearest opponent, Tom Davis, of Minneapolis.

Supporters of Davis say they will demand a recount unless the returns to be checked by the state canvassing board, which meets Monday, show Davis is the winner.

Schall Report
Congressman Thomas D. Schall lost a few votes in the official reports from several counties in the contest for the republican senatorial nomination, but with only four precincts in the state missing, he had a lead of 1,064 over Oscar Hallam of St. Paul, the count standing: Schall, 81,586; Hallam, 80,522.

OLSON INCREASES LEAD OVER DAVIS

St. Paul, June 21.—Floyd Olson took a lead of 239 votes over Tom Davis in a recheck of votes cast by the farmer-labor party in nominating a candidate for governor today. There was a change of 200 votes in Wright county. Davis announced if the canvassing board Monday declares Olson nominated he will contest the election.

BELIEVED VICTIM OF ANTI-JAPANESE OUTBREAK IN WEST

Pasadena, Calif., June 21.—Believed possibly another victim of anti-Japanese outbreaks which have threatened Orientals in Southern California during the past few days, the body of an unidentified Japanese man was found today beneath a bridge crossing the Arroyo Seco west of Pasadena. Two Japanese were found murdered yesterday at San Pedro, while one living near Los Angeles was threatened with tar and feathers the night previous.

The local body was discovered by sewer workers digging beneath the bridge. The Japanese had either plunged or been thrown from the bridge 150 feet to the canyon below. Robbery was evidently not the motive, as in the man's pockets were $26 and a watch.

ETHELYN CLARK GRANTED DIVORCE

HUSBAND, JOE HOWARD, ONCE POPULAR SONG WRITER

Cleveland, O., June 21.—A decree of divorce was granted today by Common Pleas Judge Kennedy to Ethelyn Clark, stage partner and wife of Joe Howard, vaudeville headliner and creator of many of the country's most popular songs of 10 years ago. The grounds were gross neglect and extreme cruelty, charges uncontested by Howard, whose real name is Joseph E. McGaragal.

BULL DOG MEETS HIS DEATH FIGHTING TO SAVE OWNER'S MONEY

Chicago, June 21.—Tige, a chunky, fighting bulldog, went to his death, defending to the last the trust imposed in him by his master, William Burns, soft drink saloon proprietor. When Burns opened his place today, he found Tige dead, a bullet hole in the head, and a bloodstained piece of cloth in his mouth. There were signs of a hard struggle between Tige, who acted as night watchman, and burglars who took $1,100 in cash.

PASSENGERS OF GROUNDED MAIL LINER ALL SAFE

(By United Press)
Balboa Heights, C. Z., June 21.—Passengers aboard the Pacific Mail liner Colombia, ashore on Cuna Island, are believed to have been safely transferred during the night to the transport Chaumont and the steamer Corinto, the Pacific Mail offices here announced today.

Last advices received here were that the two ships were on the scene and the transfer would be made. Reports to the agents of the vessel here indicated the ship also would be saved.

The steamer carried 25 passengers from San Francisco, 64 from Los Angeles and an undetermined number from Mexican and Central American ports, en route from San Francisco to New York. The ship went ashore Thursday night.

MT. EVEREST CLAIMS VICTIMS, TWO CLIMBERS

MALLORY AND IRVINE, OF BRITISH PARTY, ENGULFED BY SNOW

HAD SCALED MILE AND A HALF FROM THE SUMMIT

(By United Press)
London, June 21.—Mount Everest, the world's highest and only unconquered mountain peak, has claimed the lives of two gallant British climbers, George Leigh Mallory and A. C. Irvine.

Their bodies lie in the grip of the eternal fearful snows of Everest only a mile and a half from the summit, a height never before attained by man. The rest of the party returned to the base camp safely, and Col. Norton, another of the explorers, telegraphed meager details of the tragedy. Serious doubts were expressed today that man will ever succeed in climbing to the "roof of the world. World-wide tributes to the courage of Mallory and Irvine were pouring in today. That they had faced the perils of Everest's steep slopes knowing full well the danger, was attested by Mallory's last message: "The third time we walk up East Rongbuk glacier will be the last, for better or for worse. We expect no mercy from Everest."

They received none, and probably found a resting place in the swirling snows a fortnight ago.

It is understood here that bodies could not be recovered. Mallory was particularly distinguished as a mountaineer and it was he who, in the 1922 expedition, established a record of 26,800 feet without the use of oxygen.

Irvine was an Oxford student only 22 years old who had obtained leave from school to join the expedition. The entire empire mourns the loss of these gallant men whose only thought was to place the flag of Britain atop the world's highest peak.

SUIT FOR DEATH OF UNBORN CHILD LOST BY MOTHER

St. Paul, June 21.—District Judge Charles Bechhoefer yesterday sustained the streetcar company's demurrer to the $1,150 suit by Mrs. Hilda Neilson.

The order cuts off the mother's hopes for recompense in an unusual case in Ramsey county court records—a damage suit for loss of the future hopes and dreams centered around an unborn child.

Mrs. Neilson, through her attorney, Lyle Pettijohn, charged that Dec. 27, 1922, she boarded a streetcar at Locust and E. 7th Sts., it jerked and she was thrown against the steps and gates.

As a result of the accident, it was charged, the child died after its birth.

YANKEE BIRD MEN HALF ROUND WORLD

SOON TO MEET AND CROSS TRAIL OF THEIR BRITISH COMPETITORS

BATTLED EASTERN GALES OVER THE BAY OF BENGAL

(By United Press)
Rangoon, India, June 21.—The American fliers are nearly half way around the world today and are about to meet and cross the trail of their British competitors, Major A. S. MacLaren, who is proceeding in the opposite direction.

After battling eastern gales over the Bay of Bengal, Lieut. Lowell Smith and his companions, Lieuts. Leigh Wade and Eric Nelson, made perfect landings here Thursday, having flown from Avy. They were enthusiastically received.

At Akyab, where the Americans plan their next stop, is Major MacLaren, who has been kept from the air by the annual monsoon which makes flying impossible. This has now abated, whereafter MacLaren expects to proceed to Rangoon.

The Americans played in good luck, arriving just after the stormy season passed.

Flowers for Delegates

New York, June 21.—Democratic delegates' first glimpse of New York today was a pleasant one.

They saw first a pretty girl, second a flower, and third an outstretched hand. The Women's Democratic Club of New York has arranged that each delegate will receive flowers from a girl immediately he or she steps from the train.

For men there will be boutonnières and for women corsage bouquets. Flower booths will be maintained in each railroad terminal.

INSANITY PLEA IS DEFENSE FOR LEOPOLD, LOEB

STATE'S ATTORNEY TO SEEK TO TEAR DOWN SUCH BARRIER

FRIENDS AND ASSOCIATES OF 2 YOUNG INTELLECTUALS SUMMONED

Chicago, June 21.—Alarmed by the "insanity defense" being built up to save Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb from the gallows, the state's attorney's office today took definite steps to tear down the insanity barrier.

More than a dozen friends and associates of the two young intellectuals, who murdered 14-year-old Robert Frank "just for the fun of it," were notified to appear for questioning on Monday. They will be quizzed concerning the habits of Leopold and Loeb in the hope they can establish the sanity of the youthful slayers.

An increasing number of alienists called in by Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, are examining the two boys in the county jail. An array of sensitive instruments used in testing mental activities is constantly being used in the examination.

According to Darrow each of the physicians is prepared to testify before a jury that the boys were of unsound mind and irresponsible for their crime.

Recognizing the fact that the defense will be built around the plea of insanity, aids of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe are preparing to refute testimony of alienists by showing that Leopold and Loeb were normal in habit preceding the murder.

The trial, expected to be the greatest contest of its kind in Illinois court records, is to open August 4.

BOUNTIES ON WOLVES AMOUNT TO HUGE SUM STATE AUDITOR FINDS

St. Paul, June 21.—Wolves are still prevalent in Minnesota.

This was revealed today, when State Auditor R. P. Chase reported that his office, during the year ended June 1, paid out $66,118.50 in wolf bounties.

For the quarter ending June 1, $21,538.50 was paid out. During the year 1,238 full grown wolves were turned in to the state and 747 cubs.

Wolf bounties were paid in 49 out of the 88 counties. Ramsey county is not included. Itasca county, with 100 bounties, on which $1,500 was paid, had the highest total, followed by Roseau county, which received $1,420, and Carleton county, which received $1,402.50.

The last legislature increased the bounty on wolves to $15 for full-grown wolves and $6 for cubs. Under the old law $7 was paid for wolves and $3 for cubs.

MARINES MAY GUARD MAIL TRAINS SOON

TO PREVENT RECURRENCE OF ANY $3,000,000 ROBBERIES

CHIEF P. O. INSPECTOR SIMMONS MAKES STATEMENT

(By United Press)
Chicago, June 21.—Marines may be detailed to guard mail trains running out of Chicago to prevent recurrence of the $3,000,000 robbery of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul mail train near Rondout, Ill., Rush D. Simmons, chief postoffice inspector, Washington, declared here today.

Simmons, who came here to direct a government investigation of the robbery, said he would recommend special guards, probably marines.

Will Hayes, when postmaster general, called out marines to protect mail trains against robbery following an epidemic of holdups, Simmons said.

"This situation may have to be met in the same way," Simmons declared.

Meanwhile the Federal grand jury has returned indictments against 10 men in connection with the Rondout robbery.

Ernest Fontana was arrested early today, making the seventh prisoner in the hunt for the bandits.

CLEVELAND'S STREET CAR STRIKE DELAYED

UNION WORKERS GET RESTRAINING ORDER FROM COURTS

RESTRAIN COMPANY FROM REFUSING TO RECOGNIZE THE UNION

(By United Press)
Cleveland, O., June 21.—Cleveland's long threatened street car strike again was postponed today when common pleas court, at the request of the union workers, issued an order restraining the officials of the Cleveland Railway company from refusing to recognize the union.

Attorney William Day for the union announced the strike scheduled to begin at midnight tonight will not be called until a final hearing on the restraining order.

John Stanley, head of the car company, recently broke off relations with the union, declaring an agreement with workers was void.

The carmen were to have struck June 10, but postponed the walkout because of the republican convention here then.

COMMONER'S BROTHER SEEKS THE PRESIDENCY

NEBRASKA DELEGATION TO THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION SOLID FOR HIM

SECOND CHOICE OF NEBRASKA IS FOR McADOO OR EMITH

(By United Press)
New York, June 21.—The name of Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, brother of the "commoner," will be presented to the democratic national convention as a candidate for the presidency.

This was revealed today by the Nebraska delegation, which will vote as a unit for him and continue to support him so long as there is a chance for his nomination.

The second choice of Nebraska lies between McAdoo and Smith, the later having from four to five supporters, according to conservative estimates.

The speech nominating Bryan will be made by Harry B. Flaherty.

NO CONTESTS ARE ON FILE

New York, June 21.—No contests are on file with the national committee, so that the work of the credentials committee will be confined merely to approving the original list of delegates as presented by each state.

All members of the national committee today accepted the temporary row and also formally approved Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi as temporary chairman and other officers named for the convention.

It was decided that an assistant secretary of the convention shall be named from each state.

KU KLUX KLAN NOT TO BE MENTIONED

New York, June 21.—The Ku Klux Klan will not be mentioned by name in the platform plank of the democratic party covering the subject of religious and political freedom.

Barring a complete turn about face of convention leaders, the fight will be waged on the plank the party will go on record as specifically upholding Article X of the constitution. They will then go on to say:

"Religious beliefs of men shall not act as a bar against holding public office."

Both Senator Carter Glass and Key Pittman having drafted platform planks covering the Klan issue. Neither mentions the Klan outright. Pittman's is slightly the stronger, and is understood to be acceptable as a compromise, according to all indications today by George E. Brennan, Illinois, E. H. Moore, Ohio, Congressman Fitzgerald, Boston, and others, who no were advocating direct mention of the Klan.

The principle of leaders in omitting the actual name of the Klan is to avoid the resultant religious havoc in the campaign.

Smith, McADOO IN STRATEGIC POSITIONS

United Press Headquarters, Waldorf Hotel, New York, June 21.—Bands blared, hundreds of men and women milled about in hotel lobbies, conferees conferred secretly and policies began to take definite form today as the democrats gathered for their national convention.

Although the actual convention is still three days away, it appeared that the Klan fight which flared up when the first delegations arrived, was working toward a solution. A compromise is expected.

While strong factions were continuing their efforts to have the Klan denounced by name in the party platform, leaders such as George Brennan of Illinois are understood to be preparing to accept a plank that will denounce religious and political in-

FRANCE, AMERICA ON RECOGNITION OF RUSSIAN NATION

(By United Press)
Washington, June 21.—France and the United States are exchanging views on recognition of Russia, it was officially learned here today.

Details of the exchange are kept secret, but it is understood that the Herriot government of France took the initiative with a view of seeking alignment of this country with it in a joint program of recognition and terms to be offered Russia.

Premier Herriot's present conversations with Premier MacDonald of England likewise are understood to be on the same matter. It is understood that rapprochement of China and Russia on the subject of the Chinese Eastern railway is also being discussed.

State department officials refused to discuss the matter.

CHICAGO GRAIN HOUSES SEEK TO AMALGAMATE

5 NATIONALLY KNOWN FIRMS MADE OVERTURES TODAY

WISH TO MERGE WITH 5,000 FARMER-OWNED GRAIN ELEVATORS

Chicago, June 21.—The proposal of five nationally known grain houses of Chicago to merge with 5,000 co-operative grain elevators, farmer-owned, was under consideration today by the American Farm Bureau Federation and other big farm bodies.

The plan includes acquisition by farmers of the facilities of the Armour Grain Company, Rosenbaum Grain corporation, Bartlett, Frazier & Company, Rosenbaum Brothers and W. Schaffer & Company.

"This plan proposes that the International Grain Marketing Sales Agency resulting become grower-owned, financed and controlled," the Farm Bureau stated.

The company contemplated in the plan will be at the service of state co-operative grain pools, elevator exchanges, farmer-owned elevators and individuals as a grain merchandising agency."

The bureau appointed a committee to determine the feasibility of the proposal.

tolerance but avoid a direct reference to the Klan.

Governor Smith and William Gibbs McAdoo held the strategic positions insofar as candidate are concerned by virtue of their preponderance of pledged delegations.

"Dark horse" supporters realized that McAdoo and Smith will not give up until every political maneuver designed to gain votes has been exhausted, but they are content to wait until the two leaders have killed each other off.

Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, has the support of his state delegation, and it has been definitely decided to place the brother of the "Commoner" in nomination and stand by him so long as there is a chance for his nomination.

West Virginia leaders reminded folks today that the state delegation will be just as strong next week as it was in California four years ago.

Senator Samuel Ralston of Indiana, another "dark horse," will not be formally placed in nomination by them, but their 30 votes will be for him whenever the time seems ripe to use them. Early ballots will find Indiana split up between Smith, McAdoo and Davis.

With the Klan issue moving toward a settlement, the wet and dry issue and the international relations issue came up for discussion. The former will be disposed of by a general declaration for law enforcement. An endorsement for the league of nations will be sought in the resolutions committee.

HOST OR A HOSTESS FOR EVERY DELEGATION

FIFTH AVENUE TO BE BRILLIANTLY ILLUMINATED

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN SITE OF THE CONVENTION

By MILTON MACKEYE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 21.—New York, decked out in raiment of Babylonian splendor, today welcomed the "hosts of democracy."

Everywhere there was the push and clamor of crowds; the feverish haste of worried officials and the cheerful bewilderment of homefolks on a holiday.

It was a reborn New York that the day's sun saw—a different city than that whose imperviousness to sensation has been traditional. All day the railroad stations roared with the storm of incoming trains, long dusty trains from the west and south. Taxicabs ran helter skelter from hotel to hotel.

The vanguard of the oncoming thousands is here and the impressive march of the big pack is almost within hearing. Delegates will continue to come Sunday and Monday.

By Tuesday morning, when the convention is called to order in Madison Square Garden, anywhere from 15,000 visitors and political delegates will be here.

If this overgrown party caucus fails to be the greatest convention ever held—from any standpoint—it will not be the fault of New York or its civic leaders. They have spared neither money nor labor to make it the absolute "none-such" of all political gatherings.

Host For Each Delegation

Every state delegation is being met at the train by one member of the general entertainment committee, who makes members of that delegation his guests for the entire tenure of the fracas here.

He looks after them, he takes them to their hotels and then moves right in with them. He provides them with free theatre tickets to any show they want to see; he arranges dances for them in their hotel, stages tea parties, provides them with an orchestra all their own.

The list of the New York hosts reads like a directory of New York's wealthiest men. It includes: Col. William Boyce Thompson, former Governor Whitman, Percy S. Straus, William Church Osborn, Charles C. Pettijohn, Charles H. Sabin, H. K. McCann, Gen. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal, James W. Gerard, Norman H. Davis, George Gordon Battle, Norborn P. Gatling, U. S. District Attorney Hayward, C. H. Pforzheimer and others equally well known.

Each man has volunteered to pay the entertainment costs of the delegation awarded him. The list is absolutely non-partisan and includes the city's most prominent republicans, as well as democrats.

A sample of fun in store is the entertainment schedule laid out for the Alabama delegation by Eugene F. Moran, its sponsor. It includes a trip around New York harbor, inspection of transatlantic ships in port, buffet luncheon aboard the Majestic or Berengaria, and a theatre party as the guest of Mary Kirkpatrick, the playwright.

Besides the delegation entertaining, of course, there is to be a general citywide entertainment, starting today with a garden party to committee women, given by Miss Elizabeth Marbury, prominent democratic worker.

Every arrangement for putting the city in a new holiday suit of clothes has been completed—and what a "suit" it is!

Every building is ablaze with the splendor of flags; every uptown store window is filled with fine silks and the glitter of bright and precious

Barring a complete turn about face of convention leaders, the fight will be waged on the plank the party will go on record as specifically upholding Article X of the constitution. They will then go on to say:

"Religious beliefs of men shall not act as a bar against holding public office."

Both Senator Carter Glass and Key Pittman having drafted platform planks covering the Klan issue. Neither mentions the Klan outright. Pittman's is slightly the stronger, and is understood to be acceptable as a compromise, according to all indications today by George E. Brennan, Illinois, E. H. Moore, Ohio, Congressman Fitzgerald, Boston, and others, who now are advocating direct mention of the Klan.

The principle of leaders in omitting the actual name of the Klan is to avoid the resultant religious havoc in the campaign.

SMITH, McADOO IN STRATEGIC POSITIONS

United Press Headquarters, Wall-dorf Hotel, New York, June 21.—Bands blared, hundreds of men and women milled about in hotel lobbies, conferees conferred secretly and policies began to take definite form today as the democrats gathered for their national convention.

Although the actual convention is still three days away, it appeared that the Klan fight which flared up when the first delegations arrived, was working toward a solution. A compromise is expected.

While strong factions were continuing their efforts to have the Klan denounced by name in the party platform, leaders such as George Brennan of Illinois are understood to be preparing to accept a plank that will denounce religious and political in-

FRANCE, AMERICA ON RECOGNITION OF RUSSIAN NATION

(By United Press)

Washington, June 21.—France and the United States are exchanging views on recognition of Russia, it was officially learned here today.

Details of the exchange are be kept secret, but it is understood that the Herriot government of France took the initiative with a view of seeking alignment of this country with it in a joint program of recognition and terms to be offered Russia.

Premier Herriot's present conversations with Premier MacDonald of England likewise are understood to be on the same matter. It is understood that rapprochement of China and Russia on the subject of the Chinese Eastern railway is also being discussed.

State department officials refused to discuss the matter.

CHICAGO GRAIN HOUSES SEEK TO AMALGAMATE

5 NATIONALLY KNOWN FIRMS MADE OVERTURES
TODAY

WISH TO MERGE WITH 5,000 FAR-MER-OWNED GRAIN ELE-VATORS

Chicago, June 21.—The proposal of five nationally known grain houses of Chicago to merge with 5,000 co-operative grain elevators, farmer-owned, was under consideration today by the American Farm Bureau Federation and other big farm bodies.

The plan includes acquisition by farmers of the facilities of the Armour Grain Company, Rosenbaum Grain corporation, Bartlett, Frazier & Company, Rosenbaum Brothers and W. Schaffer & Company.

"This plan proposes that the International Grain Marketing Sales Agency resulting become grower-owned, financed and controlled," the Farm Bureau stated.

"The company contemplated in the plan will be at the service of state co-operative grain pools, elevator exchanges, farmer-owned elevators and individuals as a grain merchandising agency."

The bureau appointed a committee to determine the feasibility of the proposal.

tolerance but avoid a direct reference to the Klan.

Governor Smith and William Gibbs McAdoo held the strategic positions insofar as candidate are concerned by virtue of their preponderance of pledged delegations.

"Dark horse" supporters realized that McAdoo and Smith will not give up until every political maneuver designed to gain votes has been exhausted, but they are content to wait until the two leaders have killed each other off.

Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, has the support of his state delegation, and it has been definitely decided to place the brother of the "Commoner" in nomination and stand by him so long as there is a chance for his nomination.

West Virginia leaders reminded folks today that the state delegation will be just as strong next week as it was in California four years ago.

Senator Samuel Ralston of Indiana, another "dark horse," will not be formally placed in nomination by them, but their 30 votes will be for him whenever the time seems ripe to use them. Early ballots will find Indiana split up between Smith, McAdoo and Davis.

With the Klan issue moving toward a settlement, the wet and dry issue and the international relations issue came up for discussion. The former will be disposed of by a general declaration for law enforcement. An endorsement for the league of nations will be sought in the resolutions committee.

HOST OR A HOSTESS FOR EVERY DELEGATION

FIFTH AVENUE TO BE BRILLI-ANTLY ILLUMIN-ATED

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN SITE OF THE CONVEN-TION

(By MILTON MacKAYE)

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, June 21.—New York, decked out in raiment of Babylonian splendor, today welcomed the "hosts of democracy."

Everywhere there was the push and clamor of crowds; the feverish haste of worried officials and the cheerful bewilderment of homefolks on a holiday.

It was a reborn New York that the day's sun saw—a different city than that whose imperviousness to sensation has been traditional. All day the railroad stations roared with the storm of incoming trains, long dusty trains from the west and south. Taxicabs ran helter skelter from hotel to hotel.

The vanguard of the oncoming thousands is here and the impressive march of the big pack is almost within hearing. Delegates will continue to come Sunday and Monday.

By Tuesday morning, when the convention is called to order in Madison Square Garden, anywhere from 15,000 visitors and political delegates will be here.

If this overgrown party caucus fails to be the greatest convention ever held—from any standpoint—it will not be the fault of New York or its civic leaders. They have spared neither money nor labor to make it the absolute "none-such" of all political gatherings.

Host For Each Delegation

Every state delegation is being met at the train by one member of the general entertainment committee, who makes members of that delegation his guests for the entire tenure of the fracas here.

He looks after them, he takes them to their hotels and then moves right in with them. He provides them with free theatre tickets to any show they want to see; he arranges dances for them in their hotel, stages tea parties, provides them with an orchestra all their own.

The list of the New York hosts reads like a directory of New York's wealthiest men. It includes: Col. William Boyce Thompson, former Governor Whitman, Percy S. Straus, William Church Osborn, Charles C. Pettijohn, Charles H. Sabin, H. K. McCann, Gen. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal, James W. Gerard, Norman H. Davis, George Gordon Battle, Norborn P. Gatling, U. S. District Attorney Hayward, C. H. Pforzheimer and others equally well known.

Each man has volunteered to pay the entertainment costs of the delegation awarded him. The list is absolutely non-partisan and includes the city's most prominent republicans, as well as democrats.

A sample of fun in store is the entertainment schedule laid out for the Alabama delegation by Eugene F. Moran, its sponsor. It includes a trip around New York harbor, inspection of transatlantic ships in port, buffet luncheon aboard the Majestic or Berengaria, and a theatre party as the guest of Mary Kirkpatrick, the playwright.

Besides the delegation entertaining, of course, there is to be a general citywide entertainment, starting today with a garden party to committee women, given by Miss Elizabeth Marbury, prominent democratic worker.

Every arrangement for putting the city in a new holiday suit of clothes has been completed—and what a "suit" it is!

Every building is ablaze with the splendor of flags; every uptown store window is filled with fine silks and the glitter of bright and precious

INTERRUPTED ROMANCE MAY BE RESUMED

(By United Press)

New York, June 21.—The interrupted romance of Dr. Percy Stickney Grant and Mrs. Rita d'Acosta Lydig may be resumed their friends declared today as the result of the resignation of Dr. Grant as rector of the fashionable Fifth avenue Church of the Ascension.

Dr. Grant's reasons for giving up the place which he has held for 31 years were ill health and a desire to complete some literary work. The resignation was accepted with "deep regret" by wardens and vestrymen at a special meeting.

Some time ago it was announced that the opposition of Bishop Manning to the marriage between the rector and Mrs. Lydig on the grounds that Rita was a divorcee whose former husbands were alive ended the engagement between Dr. Grant and the society beauty.

Neither Mrs. Lydig nor the rector would comment on the report among friends that his resignation means resumption of that engagement.

CONFESSION ON KIDNAPING AND MURDER

AGENT OF FASCIST PARTY TELLS OF FATE OF SOCIALIST ITALIAN DEPUTY

PROMINENT ITALIANS ARE IMPLICATED IN PLOT ALLEGED

(By United Press)
Rome, June 21.—An agent of the Fascist party named Dumini has broken down and made a complete confession of the kidnaping and murder of the socialist deputy, Matteotti, it has been learned.

At first Dumini wilted when undeniable evidence was presented against him and exposed the entire plot.

The confession positively implicates Cesare Rossi, former director of publicity for the department of the interior, Filippo Fillipelli, editor of the Corriere de Italiano and Marinelli, administrative secretary of the Fascist party. All are Fascists, according to Dumini. They planned the killing and paid the assassins. He admitted he and four others did the actual slaying.

The body has not been found.

Lincoln To Go On Trial To Decide His Sanity

(By United Press)
Geneva, Ill., June 21.—The sanity trial of Warren J. Lincoln, Aurora, who confessed slaying his wife, Mrs. Lina Shoup Lincoln and her brother, Byron Shoup, is scheduled to begin in the Circuit Court here Monday. Lincoln confessed to one of the most sensational murders in the history of Illinois.

On the result of the trial hangs the immediate fate of Lincoln, former lawyer and horticulturist.

If the jury finds him sane, he will face trial for murder, and the death sentence will be asked, according to State's Attorney Charles Abbott.

If the jury pronounces him insane, Lincoln will be sent to the penitentiary for the criminal insane at Chester.

Should he recover while there, he would be delivered to Kane county authorities and tried for murder.

Whether Lincoln was sane at the time of the alleged murders will not be gone into, lawyers said.

The morbid and peculiar circumstances surrounding the alleged crimes, however, have brought forth a variety of opinions about Lincoln's mental condition from alienists and lawyers.

Alienists employed by the prosecution, including Dr. R. A. Hilton, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane, at Elgin, and Dr. J. H. Gagahagan, superintendent of the Mercyville sanitarium, have declared Lincoln sane.

Lincoln, they said, must have been sane, or he would not have cut up the bodies of his victims, put the heads in a sack, and burned the remainder of the bodies. According to the state's alienists, insane men do not mutilate the bodies of their victims, but on the contrary walk away without touching them.

However, much opinion is divided about Lincoln's sanity. It is agreed that the crimes were the work of a morbid intellect. The most ghastly of the tales of Edgar Allen Poe hardly equals in horror the story Lincoln confessed to Aurora police.

Excuse For Killing
Lincoln related that he killed his wife and brother-in-law because he discovered them in an act of unlawful intimacy together. Authorities doubted that part of the story. He said that he then severed each of his victims' heads from their bodies. After carrying the bodies to his greenhouse, near the Lincoln home, he said he crammed them into the fur-things. Even the workaday downtown world is clean—or at least as clean as is possible in a valley of towering buildings and 10,000 smoke stacks.

The Lighting Scheme

When the lights go up tonight, visitors will see a transformed Fifth Avenue—the aristocrat of streets. The decorators called their product New York's "Golden Way."

From Washington Arch to 60th Street, the Avenue will blaze with orange colored lamps. Then there will be blue lamps and frosty white lamps for two and a half miles—the longest stretch of decorative lighting ever attempted. More than 25,000 globes will be used.

Each block of Fifth Avenue will represent some state or territory. Every lamp post already is decorated with four flags, two American flags, the flag of New York City, and the flag of the state.

Meantime, the "business men" who expect to net something more than pocket money from the sale of eatables, drinkables and souvenirs are on hand in force.

Vendors line the streets and the bootleggers, so the report goes, may be found other places.

For, although R. Q. Merrick, in charge of federal prohibition enforcement has announced the city will be very, very dry during the convention, those on the "inside" predict there will be plenty of fire-water secretly on tap.

In Madison Square Garden
Madison Square Garden, site of the convention proper has been ready for several days to receive the delegates following an extensive remodeling.

Delegates will be seated in the center of the big building. Alternates will be at one side of them. Members of the New York National nace there and burned them to ashes.

But Lincoln apparently did not want to destroy all symbols of his "revenge." He told how he wrapped the heads of his widow and her brother in pieces of burlap, then placed them in a box, into which he poured concrete. When the concrete had hardened, Lincoln put the heavy slab that concealed his secret under a porch of his home, he said. It made a good support, and he liked to see it there, he said. Lincoln finally became tired of seeing the slab and he carted it to the city dump.

But he didn't forget it. It was Lincoln who pointed the slab out to Aurora police. When they opened it and removed the burlap, the detrun-ated heads of the victims stared out at them.

Lincoln has been showing remarkable peace-of-mind during his imprisonment with bail at the county jail here. Occupying a cell by himself he has sent much time in leisurely reading.

"Since we brought him to Geneva he has become so fat that he's outgrown his clothes," Cecil Reilly, his jailer, said. "But he's the best behaved prisoner we have."

Doctor Operates on Wrong Side, Woman Avers; Sues for $5,000

St. Paul, June 21.—Charging that the defendant performed an operation on the wrong side of her body, and later, after learning his mistake, operated on the other side, Rose M. Vincet today filed suit in district court against Dr. H. B. Zimmerman for $5,000 damages.

August 12, 1923, the complaint asserts, Dr. Zimmerman advised an operation to relieve an ailment on the plaintiff's right side.

The complaint charges Dr. Zimmerman operated on her right side when there was no need of it.

SUPREME COURT ON RUM ODOR

The state supreme court has ruled, in a case presented, that the smell of moonshine is not enough to convict a man of possession of liquor. It seems the prohibition agents had no liquor samples to offer as being seized from the defendant and merely swore they smelled moonshine.

The state supreme court may be sincere in its convictions, but any wife will not be convinced by such a decision. If Pa comes home with a breath laden with contraband smell of moonshine, it is proof incontrovertible to Ma, that Pa is guilty of being in internal possession of the obnoxious fluid. All Pa's excuses are unavailing and citing this supreme court decision will only serve to further stir Ma's wrath. Taken from a strictly legal standpoint, of course the supreme court is right, but we are assured that if several ladies also occupied that bench there might be a divided opinion.

Leaving out the irrelevant discussion provoked, it is interesting to note that a district court in Brainerd had previously decided on the same lines as did the supreme court, that smell alone was no evidence of the possession of liquor.

HE'S A PERSISTENT FELLOW

ALBA HALL, age 51, former resident of Brainerd, is a most persistent fellow. On June 5th he attempted to roller skate his way from Minneapolis to Belle Prairie. A heavy rain set in and drenched the skater to the skin. His long sweater picked up moisture until it drooped to his knees. A Dispatch man on his way to Albert Lea heard all about Hall's trip.

Hall was observed by all the bus men who kept tab on his roller skating. He abandoned further skating somewhere near Elk River. Brainerd was interested in him because he had lived here and also because he had told the Minneapolis Tribune of the writeup given him by the Brainerd Dispatch on the occasion of his visit in Brainerd during the 50th anniversary home coming celebration.

Hall on his first trip carried two spare wheels. Not disheartened by his first unsuccessful attempt at a long distance run on paving, he recuperated and on last Thursday started out again and all cities on the Jefferson highway from Minneapolis to Little Falls were craning their necks to see him. This time he carried six extra spare wheels, expected to make the trip in 12 hours, stopping only for lunch.

IT'S ALL FOR CHICAGO

The Chicago Daily Tribune on June 16 kept its editorial eyes glued right on Chicago. The first editorial referred to "Turtle Town," taking up what "Commerce," the publication of the Association of Commerce has to say of Chicago. The next referred to "The Local Reservoir of Labor." Another was on "Straightening the River." The fourth referred to "Who Runs Our Schools." The last two took up "Public Safety in Two Cities," comparing Detroit with Chicago, and "Peaceful Fighters," which referred to the University of Chicago.

In other words, "the world's greatest newspaper" believes in concerning itself editorially solely with its own home town. On June 16 its vision did not encompass, editorially, the world as its sphere.

SLOW DELIVERY OF MAIL

THE mills of the gods grind slowly, but they found an equal in this reported occurrence of the postoffice at Springfield, Mass. A Christmas greeting card mailed on December 23, 1912, in the neighboring village of Feeding Hills, was received in Springfield on May 29th this year by Miss Olive H. Casey.

Maybe some recalcitrant husband, as they sometimes do, carried the card around in his pocket for 11 years and then suddenly, conscience-stricken, ran and mailed it. As we had a cold spring, the winter holiday greetings probably arrived at an opportune time. This gives as many excuses as we can think up to save Uncle Sam from censure for such a slow delivery of mail.

FINE NEWSPAPER WORK IN CANADA

The presence of the Rotary International convention in Toronto, Canada, was signaled by the Toronto Sunday World with an 84 page edition. Two pages of the roto-gravure section were given over to pictures of international officers and others prominent rotationally, and a 24 page section carried Rotary news from all over the world. The first page of this section bore the heading "Toronto Where Friendship Grows in Rotary," and carried a glowing welcome penned by Norman Sommerville, President-elect of the Toronto Rotary club.

SLOW tram and bus service in Bournemouth, England, was probed by efficiency experts and they decided that too much fare-well kissing was the cause of the delay. The city council has now issued an edict asking passengers to quit kissing, or at least to do it at home and not at the depots.

PAUL BETTERS, well known Staples engineer of the Northern Pacific, died Thursday forenoon at the family home at Lincoln lake. He formerly lived in Brainerd, had many Brainerd friends and was a great friend of the Brainerd Dispatch.

TRIPS to the west with return via Canadian railways seem to be gaining in popularity. It's a case of see America first and then call on our Canadian cousins and see what they've got in various lines.

WITH floods in one state, windstorms in others, the Brainerd Lake Region continues the even tenor of its ways, calm and undisturbed by any cataclysm of nature.

STYLES leave their imprint. Witness the corset factories, which report a dearth of orders because many of the girls are not wearing any in summer time.

It was strong gas which was turned upon the Rhode Island senate. In fact it was so strong that it bowled over one reporter, and that's going the limit.

SCIENTISTS FIND NEW FIELD OF RESEARCH

Much Expected of Explorations in Sinai Peninsula.

The deciphering of the remnants of an ancient tablet found on the Sinai peninsula revives interest in an almost forgotten land of archeological research. The remnants of the tablet were found some time ago by Professor Flinders Petrie, the founder of the British school of archeology in Egypt and one of Great Britain's most distinguished Egyptologists, in the course of his explorations in southwestern Sinai.

They came later under the observation and study of Dr. Hubert Grimme, professor of Semitic languages at the University of Munster, who deciphered them and reported their discovery.

Doctor Grimme says the tablet was written in old Hebrew. He quotes this sentence which he deciphered, "I was taken out of the Nile by the Egyptian queen" and says he found also the names of Joseph, Manassas and Moses. The statement that the stones were remnants of the original tablets bearing the Ten Commandments given to Moses was very probably not made by Doctor Grimme.

Doctor Grimme discovered in these remnants a part of the record of the exodus from the Nile valley. They were found in the supposed line of the wanderings of the Israelites after they had crossed the Red sea. He deplores the fact that only a portion of the tablet was found and that no effort was made to locate the remainder.

Shifting desert sand, intense heat and lack of water have been formidable obstacles to archeological exploration on Sinai peninsula. The country is rich in valuable antiquities; a French explorer found 3,200 inscriptions in Egyptian and Semitic among old temples and in quarries which were extensively worked from 2500 B. C. to 1500 B. C.

We know Sinai was the refuge of many Christian anchorites in the period of persecution in the Third century and that Emperor Justinian built the famous convent of Mount Sinai, afterward known as St. Catherine's, early in the Sixth century.

The convent of St. Catherine has yielded two most important Biblical manuscripts. The German student Tischendorf, in his research extending from 1845 to 1859, brought to light ancient Greek manuscripts known as the "Codex Sinaiticus," containing most of the Septuagint and all of the New Testament. Miss Smith Lewis in 1892 found a palimpsest Syriac text of St. Luke's gospel.

After those two discoveries Sinai was a neglected field of research until Professor Petrie's find of the old Hebrew tablet. The recent research work of Professor MacAllister, in which he succeeded in unearthing almost the whole of the ancient city of Jerusalem, has given a new impetus to exploration in Biblical lands. This may result in bringing to light the long hidden archeological treasures of Sinai peninsula.—New York Sun and Globe.

Mrs. Edison's Beliefs

"It is a woman's duty to stay at home and make that home attractive for some man so that he will be happy and better able to cope with his business."

This from Mrs. Thomas Alva Edison, wife of the famous inventor, who has carried her theory into practice by resigning her active duties in various clubs.

Mrs. Edison also opposes girls who prefer a business career to marriage, declaring such a girl is making a "great mistake" and "giving up an awful lot for the sake of having her own money."

She is a staunch believer in a college education for girls despite her "old-fashioned ideas." She says a daughter should be sent to college in preference to a son and she needs a liberal education for her children while the boy can get his education in contact with life, as was the case with her noted husband.

To Study in Mexico

To gain first-hand knowledge of Mexican business methods, a group of students from Boston university and other colleges will go to Mexico City the coming summer to take courses in commercial subjects at the National University of Mexico. These students will work for Mexican business firms during the morning and early afternoon.

"I can't say that your recent remarks have been very original."

Musk Oxen Drive Off Hungry Wolf Packs

Of the strange animals of North America the musk ox is one of the queerest and most interesting, says William T. Hornaday in the Youth's Companion. First of all, it is a true connecting link between wild cattle and sheep. It is able to live and thrive in cold arctic regions, even up to the farthest north for hoofed animals, the most northerly point of Greenland. It has horns like the wild Cape buffalo of Africa, cattledike hoofs, and its flesh looks and tastes like beef. It has next its body a dense coat of soft, woolly hair and through this grows a coat of very long, straight brown hair, like that of the Tibetan yak. It has a tail so short and small that the animal seems tailless. Its supply of "musk" and its "musky" odor are both wholly imaginary.

For thousands of years the musk ox herds have been preserving their calves from the hungry wolf packs of the North by most excellent military strategy. When wolves threaten a herd it at once forms a compact circle, with the adult bulls and cows standing shoulder to shoulder in the outer circle, and with all the calves and young stock inside.

Even to hungry wolves that circle of deadly down-drooping horns is impregnable. A bull may leave his place for a moment to push out 30 yards or so in an effort to puncture a wolf, but he never is lured too far. Back he goes to the circle, backs into his place and plays the game to the end.

Remained Single for Various Odd Reasons

In the course of a branch of promise case a man confessed that he had avoided the marriage he had contemplated because he had a fondness for a certain dish to which, he discovered, his prospective bride strongly objected, and it was on this score that he broke off the engagement, London Tit-Bits states.

A well-known man of letters once confessed that he had consistently shirked the ordeal of marriage because it involved what was to him a still greater ordeal, that of proposing. And there were at least a score of women known to this man and his friends who would have been only too glad to have been led to the altar by him. That none was destined to be so escorted was due, simply and solely, to his rooted aversion to proposing.

An actor, famous in his day, once declared that his reason for remaining a bachelor was that he preferred breakfasting in absolute peace and quietness.

It was his custom, on rising at seven o'clock, to have his breakfast by the fire, instead of at the table in the usual fashion. The meal was laid ready and he simply helped himself, allowing no one to disturb him until 10:30, while he read his letters and papers in silence.

To marry, he said, would mean the breaking of a long-established habit and because of this he declined to take the step.

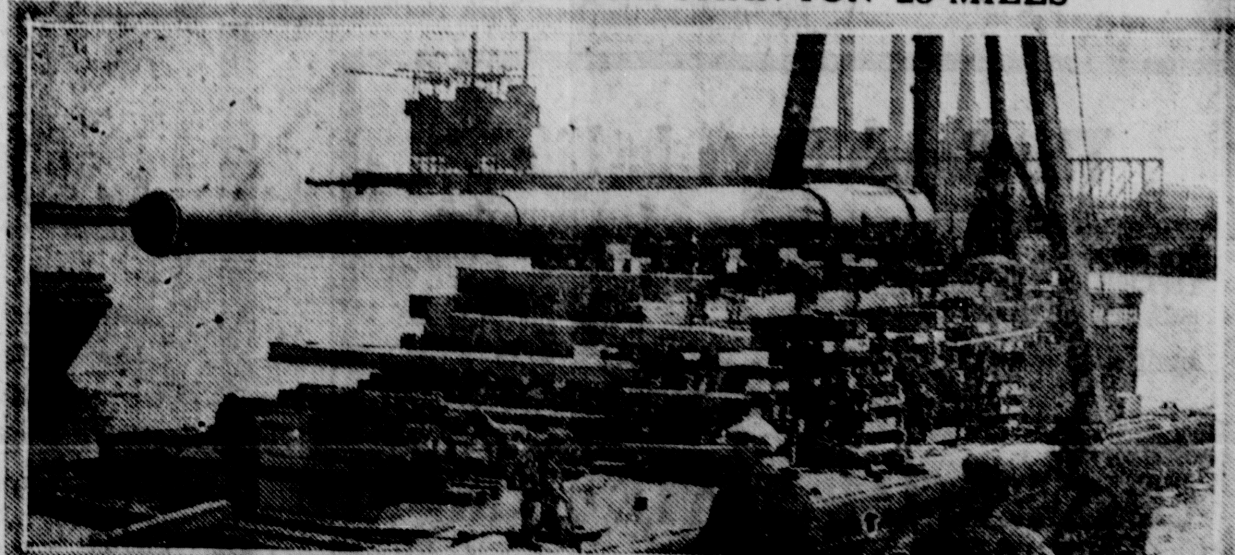

Largest Fresh Springs

The National Geographic society says that it is impossible to state exactly which fresh-water spring is the largest in the United States since springs fluctuate in their discharge, and it is also the question of considering a group of springs singularly or collectively. Among the largest fresh-water springs in the United States are the Thousands springs and the Malad springs, both of which are in Idaho. Either of these springs would supply the city of New York with water. Silver springs in Florida are also among the largest fresh-water springs in the United States.

SUPREME COURT ON RUM ODOR

THE state supreme court has ruled, in a case presented, that the smell of moonshine is not enough to convict a man of possession of liquor. It seems the prohibition agents had no liquor samples to offer as being seized from the defendant and merely swore they smelled moonshine.

The state supreme court may be sincere in its convictions, but any wife will not be convinced by such a decision. If Pa comes home with a breath laden with contraband smell of moonshine, it is proof incontrovertible to Ma, that Pa is guilty of being in internal possession of the obnoxious fluid. All Pa's excuses are unavailing and citing this supreme court decision will only serve to further stir Ma's wrath. Taken from a strictly legal standpoint, of course the supreme court is right, but we are assured that if several ladies also occupied that bench there might be a divided opinion.

Leaving out the irrelevant discussion provoked, it is interesting to note that a district court in Brainerd had previously decided on the same lines as did the supreme court, that smell alone was no evidence of the possession of liquor.

HE'S A PERSISTENT FELLOW

ALBA HALL, age 51, former resident of Brainerd, is a most persistent fellow. On June 5th he attempted to roller skate his way from Minneapolis to Belle Prairie. A heavy rain set in and drenched the skater to the skin. His long sweater picked up moisture until it drooped to his knees. A Dispatch man on his way to Albert Lea heard all about Hall's trip.

Hall was observed by all the bus men who kept tab on his roller skating. He abandoned further skating somewhere near Elk River. Brainerd was interested in him because he had lived here and also because he had told the Minneapolis Tribune of the writup given him by the Brainerd Dispatch on the occasion of his visit in Brainerd during the 50th anniversary home coming celebration.

Hall on his first trip carried two spare wheels. Not disheartened by his first unsuccessful attempt at a long distance run on paving, he recuperated and on last Thursday started out again and all cities on the Jefferson highway from Minneapolis to Little Falls were craning their necks to see him. This time he carried six extra spare wheels, expected to make the trip in 12 hours, stopping only for lunch.

IT'S ALL FOR CHICAGO

THE Chicago Daily Tribune on June 16 kept its editorial eyes glued right on Chicago. The first editorial referred to "Turtle Town," taking up what "Commerce," the publication of the Association of Commerce has to say of Chicago. The next referred to "The Local Reservoir of Labor." Another was on "Straightening the River." The fourth referred to "Who Runs Our Schools." The last two took up "Public Safety in Two Cities," comparing Detroit with Chicago, and "Peaceful Fighters," which referred to the University of Chicago.

In other words, "the world's greatest newspaper" believes in concerning itself editorially solely with its own home town. On June 16 its vision did not encompass, editorially, the world as its sphere.

COUNTY ROADS FOR TOURING

County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy Gives Summary

ROADS GENERALLY FAIR

State Roads No's. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, in Detail, Also County White Line Roads

Local motorists will be interested in the report of County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy, on the condition of the roads under his supervision, in planning their Sunday automobile tours. With fair weather promised, many will be taking advantage of the opportunity to try out a number of scenic drives which Crow Wing County affords. Mr. Murphy's road report follows:

State Road No. 1. (13th street to Morrison county line.) This road is said to be in perfect condition. In Morrison county there is one mile of graveling to be done before the connecting link with Belle Prairie is completed.

State Road No. 2. (Dewing highway.) Road is a narrow trail through southern tier of townships. No new construction. Maintenance has kept road bed in good condition. Motorists may take this road from Trunk highway No. 27 east to Mille Lacs lake on Trunk highway No. 18.

State Road No. 3. (Brainerd, Merrifield, Cross lake and Emily) Brainerd to Merrifield under construction; road is passable. Last four miles into Merrifield is completed, graveled and curves reduced. Entire road is to be completed within three weeks. Merrifield to Cross Lake, excellent, next two miles trail is narrow and sandy, balance of road to Emily, excellent.

State Road No. 4. (Crosby, Emily, to Cass county line) Crosby north to Mississippi river bridge, road winding but hard surface. First three miles north of bridge is rough due to heavy hauling by Phoenix Utility Co., balance of road to Emily, excellent, to Cass county line, good.

State Road No. 5. (Deerwood, Bay lake and south.) Road excellent its entire length. From Bay Lake south to Workman corner on Trunk Highway No. 18 is beautiful drive, following the lake shore.

White lines generally throughout the county are very good. Numbers 2 and 3 in the southern part of the county have just been marked by county forces.

White Line No. 4 is now being improved, offering a connecting link between State Roads No's. 3 and 4. Starts just north of the river bridge north of Crosby, passes through Mission chain of lakes and connects with State road No. 3 at Beavers corner, twenty miles north of Brainerd.

White Line No. 5 is another connecting link between the same state roads, being some fifteen miles north of White Line No. 4, and running parallel to it.

White Line No. 10, known locally as the "Inland Trail," connects Merrifield with Breezy Point Lodge on Big Pelican lake, shortening the distance to this summer resort about eight miles. Road is in good condition.

The Cass Lake Automobile Club has recently designated the "Big Four" trail, named from the four large lakes on its route. This trail leaves Minneapolis over Trunk Highway No. 3 to Elk River, then over No. 18 by way of Mille Lacs lake to Garrison, Deerwood and Crosby, thence over State Road No. 4 through Emily, Outing, Remer, Bena, where it meets Trunk Highway No. 8 going into Cass Lake.

"The Arizona Express" Flashes One Dare-Devil Scene After Another Typically a Lincoln J. Carter picture, the Fox version of "The Arizona Express," which opens a three day engagement at the Lyceum Theatre Sunday. The romance of the rails, with falling bridges, rushing floods and smiling mail car bandits, is woven into every foot of the picture so logically that one is carried away by the thrills.

VIOLA DANA, HUNTLY GORDON and EDNA FLUGRATH in "THE SOCIAL CODE"

"The Social Code" Shows Viola Dana at Her Best

It is always refreshing to see a Viola Dana picture and this is especially true of her latest Metro starring vehicle, "The Social Code," which opened an engagement at the New Park this afternoon. In it the versatile Miss Dana turns from light comedy to drama and offers one of the most captivating performances it has been our good fortune to witness for some long time.

As a member of the Long Island society colony Miss Dana enacts the role of a young girl who faces disgrace to protect her married sister.

The role calls for a number of highly dramatic and emotional scenes, in each of which the charming little star acquits herself superbly. "The Social Code" is another genuine triumph for Miss Dana and will be hailed with delight by her many admirers.

COUNTY ROADS FOR TOURING

County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy Gives Summary

ROADS GENERALLY FAIR

State Roads No's. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, in Detail, Also County White Line Roads

Local motorists will be interested in the report of County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy, on the condition of the roads under his supervision, in planning their Sunday automobile tours. With fair weather promised, many will be taking advantage of the opportunity to try out a number of scenic drives which Crow Wing County affords. Mr. Murphy's road report follows:

State Road No. 1. (13th street to Morrison county line.) This road is said to be in perfect condition. In Morrison county there is one mile of graveling to be done before the connecting link with Belle Prairie is completed.

State Road No. 2. (Dewey highway.) Road is a narrow trail through southern tier of townships. No new construction. Maintenance has kept road bed in good condition. Motorists may take this road from Trunk highway No. 27 east to Mille Laes lake on Trunk highway No. 18.

State Road No. 3. (Brainerd, Merrifield, Cross lake and Emily) Brainerd to Merrifield under construction, road is passable. Last four miles into Merrifield is completed, gravelled and curves reduced. Entire road is to be completed within three weeks. Merrifield to Cross Lake, excellent, next two miles trail is narrow and sandy, balance of road to Emily, excellent.

State Road No. 4. (Crosby, Emily, to Cass county line) Crosby north to Mississippi river bridge, road winding but hard surface. First three miles north of bridge is rough due to heavy hauling by Phoenix Utility Co., balance of road to Emily, excellent, to Cass county line, good.

State Road No. 5. (Deerwood, Bay lake and south.) Road excellent its entire length. From Bay Lake south to Workman corner on Trunk Highway No. 18 is beautiful drive, following the lake shore.

White lines generally throughout the county are very good. Numbers 2 and 3 in the southern part of the county have just been marked by county forces.

White Line No. 4 is now being improved, offering a connecting link between State Roads No's. 3 and 4. Starts just north of the river bridge north of Crosby, passes through Mission chain of lakes and connects with State road No. 3 at Beavers corner, twenty miles north of Brainerd.

White Line No. 5 is another connecting link between the same state roads, being some fifteen miles north of White Line No. 4, and running parallel to it.

White Line No. 10, known locally as the "Inland Trail," connects Merrifield with Breezy Point Lodge on Big Pelican lake, shortening the distance to this summer resort about eight miles. Road is in good condition.

The Cass Lake Automobile Club has recently designated the "Big Four" trail, named from the four large lakes on its route. This trail leaves Minneapolis over Trunk Highway No. 3 to Elk River, then over No. 18 by way of Mille Laes lake to Garrison, Deerwood and Crosby, thence over State Road No. 4 through Emily, Outing, Remer, Bena, where it meets Trunk Highway No. 8 going into Cass Lake.

M'ADOO OF CALIFORNIA

(By United Press)
New York, June 21.—Wm. G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury under his father-in-law, President Wilson, is one of the leading candidates for the presidency before the National Democratic Convention here June 24. His managers claim more delegates on early ballots than are claimed for any of the other candidates. No figures are offered to dispute this claim. McAdoo is frankly after the nomination this year. Although his name went before the 1920 convention at San Francisco, June 28, as a candidate for the presidency, McAdoo was really not an active candidate. It was an open secret that he would not decline the nomination, but made little personal efforts to secure what he believed would be an empty honor. It was no secret that he expected the "after the war" reaction to result in a republican victory. His friends admitted that McAdoo did not believe his candidacy to succeed Woodrow Wilson wise from either a party or a personal standpoint. He believed the cry which the republicans were already raising against the "Crown Prince" would kill him politically if he ran in 1920. However, his name went before the San Francisco convention and he received 266 votes on the first ballot. At one time it looked as if he would be nominated and his friends had a band located near his summer home waiting to serenade "the candidate." However, J. B. Cox of Ohio was named on the 44th ballot, with 732½ votes to 267 for McAdoo, the second man.

Defeated by Murphy
At that convention, McAdoo could have been nominated had but Chas. Murphy, late leader of Tammany Hall, said the word. And McAdoo was a New Yorker. Whether the death of Murphy will change the situation if it develops that Al Smith cannot win, but McAdoo can with the aid of New York, only the convention can answer.

At all events, McAdoo comes to the 1924 convention as a Californian. He moved to Los Angeles in 1922, where he had attractive business offered him in his profession—that of the law. Some of that business mixed his name with the oil probe in Washington last winter, but only in a professional capacity. However, so bitter was the feeling at the time against anyone appearing with oil money, no matter how obtained, that the political referee had already counted nine over McAdoo, when he got up and resumed the battle, with surprising results alike to friend and foe.

McAdoo was born near Marietta, Ga., in 1863, and his boyhood was spent in the poverty of the wake left by Sherman's march to the sea. The elder McAdoo was a lawyer and judge. His wife was Mary Faith Floyd, descendant of the Floyds of Mexican War fame.

Young McAdoo was educated at the University of Tennessee. At the age of 19 he was appointed deputy clerk of the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Tennessee. When he was 22 years old he was admitted to the bar in Chattanooga. In 1892 he went to New York, where he built the Hudson River tunnels, still known as the "McAdoo tubes."

Went Into Politics
McAdoo's first venture into national politics came in 1912 when, as a delegate from New York to the Baltimore Democratic National Convention, he was among the first to propose the name of Woodrow Wilson. He became vice-chairman of the democratic national committee.

When Wilson announced his cabinet in 1913, it included the name of William Gibbs McAdoo as secretary of the treasury. Then, four years later, when, as a war measure, the government took over the rail system of the country, it was on McAdoo's shoulders that fell the burden of administering the lines.

McAdoo stayed on the job in Washington until February, 1919. He then resigned.

McAdoo's first wife was Miss Sarah H. Fleming of Chattanooga, Tenn. He was married to her while practicing law in East Tennessee. Mrs. McAdoo died in 1912.

On May 7, 1914, McAdoo was married at the White House to Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, daughter of the president. They have one child, a daughter.

RIGHT OF CANINES TO USE STREETS AT STAKE IN SUIT

St. Paul, June 21.—The rights of a dog in the streets of St. Paul are involved in a civil damage suit now in progress in district court.

Socks, the dog in question, now deceased, was a pedigreed Boston bull, once the property of Joseph Constanzo, better known as "Dago Joe Gans," who has attained some fame as a welterweight boxer.

Yesterday in District Judge H. O. Hanft's court Constanzo stepped into action in his effort to recover $600 damages for injuries to his pet from the Red Top Taxicab Co. and Al Fine, one of its employees.

It is charged that on Feb. 1 Socks was in the street on Chestnut St., between Exchange and Franklin Sts. The cab and the dog came together, with disastrous results to the dog.

SMITH OF NEW YORK

(By United Press)
New York, June 21.—If Alfred E. Smith of New York should be nominated by the Democratic National Convention next week and elected President in November, Horatio Algier's wildest fiction would be outdone by facts.

Literally it would be "from the Fish Market to the White House."

And Smith will go before the convention as one of the leading candidates in point of pledged votes.

Born the son of a truckman on the lower East Side of New York, Smith had few advantages in early life. He went to parochial school, and while still a youth, took charge of his father's trucking business. His first job was in the old Fulton fish market, where he got around to work at 6 a. m., except on Fridays, when 5 a. m. was his hour to begin work. Seeing no future or money in his work, he began to look for other work, and in 1895 he received his first political job, primarily, as he put it, because "it paid more money." This appointment was a clerkship in the office of the New York commissioner of jurors.

At that time Smith had no idea of making politics his vocation. His father died, and Smith's financial support was needed at home. So he stuck to his job and gradually became interested. In 1903 he was elected to the assembly. He continued in the lower house of the legislature for 12 years, serving as Democratic floor leader in that body in 1911 and 1912, and in 1913 became speaker, one of the most powerful positions in the state government.

As a Vote-getter

In 1915 he was elected sheriff of New York county, his popularity then first being noticed. He ran 20,000 ahead of the ticket. In 1917 he was elected president of the board of aldermen in New York, and the next year he was called on to head the Democratic state ticket. He was elected by approximately 20,000 majority.

His personal popularity was not realized, however, until 1920, when running for re-election he was defeated by 75,000. The figures give the best index of his standing with the voters as a whole, as Harding carried the state by over 1,000,000. Smith ran approximately that many votes ahead of the Democratic presidential ticket in 1920.

He announced his retirement from public life, and became head of a trucking corporation in New York City. In 1922, William Randolph Hearst began laying plans to capture the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and Smith, regarding Hearst as a personal enemy because of political attacks that had been made on him by the Hearst papers, set out to prevent it.

Going to the state convention, Smith was told he might be asked to run for U. S. senator on the ticket with Hearst. Smith replied that he would not go on any ticket with Hearst and that was the battle cry of his champions. Hearst was defeated before the convention balloted, and Smith was then nominated. His was the only name to be placed in nomination. His majority was 480,000 in the 1922 election.

Attitude Toward Prohibition

Smith attracted nation-wide attention in 1923 when the legislature passed and sent to him a bill repealing the Mullan-Cage act, the state's prohibition enforcement act. He let it lay on his desk 30 days—the constitutional limit—before acting, and then signed it. Regarded as "wet," his personal attitude is that the Volstead act should be modified and that, as it is at present drawn, it can never be successfully enforced.

He does not relish the thought of being known as a wet leader. He would much prefer to be known as a governmental expert of the progressive type.

Smith is personally very popular wherever known. He rarely forgets a name or face—a necessary attribute to a politician. Unquestionably, he is the most outstanding figure in public life ever turned out by Tammany Hall. Possessed of an admittedly keen mind—although his schooling was negligible—Smith is considered an expert on problems of government and his hobby is "welfare legislation." This state of mind was brought about by his experiences as chairman of a legislative committee which investigated factory conditions in New York state a number of years ago. Then it was found that women and children, some of the latter mere tots, were working 12 to 16 hours a day in canning factories for a mere pittance. Smith has never forgotten those experiences and observations and often refers to them.

Dislikes Pomp

Smith is democratic. He dislikes pomp and forms. He frequently walks from the executive mansion to the capitol—a distance of about a mile, without a bodyguard. During the alleged "red" activities in 1919 and 1920, while governor, he strenuously objected to a bodyguard being assigned him. But it was forced on him, although the detective so assigned, was never permitted nearer Smith's office than the corridor door. Since he has been in office this term the executive detective has been abolished.

His real hobby is his family. His mother died a few weeks ago. In addition to his wife, this is comprised of three sons and two daughters. Aside from his business cares, all his efforts are centered on making them happy.

Not for the Garden

Land tortoises are often purchased by amateur gardeners under the mistaken impression that they will clear the garden of insect pests; they are really vegetarians with a special weakness for lettuce.

He believed the cry which the republicans were already raising against the "Crown Prince" would kill him politically if he ran in 1920.

However, his name went before the San Francisco convention and he received 266 votes on the first ballot. At one time it looked as if he would be nominated and his friends had a band located near his summer home waiting to serenade "the candidate." However, J. B. Cox of Ohio was named on the 44th ballot, with 732½ votes to 267 for McAdoo, the second man.

Defeated by Murphy

At that convention, McAdoo could have been nominated had but Chas. Murphy, late leader of Tammany Hall, said the word. And McAdoo was a New Yorker. Whether the death of Murphy will change the situation if it develops that Al Smith cannot win, but McAdoo can with the aid of New York, only the convention can answer.

At all events, McAdoo comes to the 1924 convention as a Californian. He moved to Los Angeles in 1922, where he had attractive business offered him in his profession—that of the law. Some of that business mixed his name with the oil probe in Washington last winter, but only in a professional capacity. However, so bitter was the feeling at the time against anyone appearing with oil money, no matter how obtained, that the political referee had already counted nine over McAdoo, when he got up and resumed the battle, with surprising results alike to friend and foe.

McAdoo was born near Marietta, Ga., in 1863, and his boyhood was spent in the poverty of the wake left by Sherman's march to the sea. The elder McAdoo was a lawyer and judge. His wife was Mary Faith Floyd, descendant of the Floyds of Mexican War fame.

Young McAdoo was educated at the University of Tennessee. At the age of 19 he was appointed deputy clerk of the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Tennessee. When he was 22 years old he was admitted to the bar in Chattanooga. In 1892 he went to New York, where he built the Hudson River tunnels, still known as the "McAdoo tubes."

Went Into Politics

McAdoo's first venture into national politics came in 1912 when, as a delegate from New York to the Baltimore Democratic National Convention, he was among the first to propose the name of Woodrow Wilson. He became vice-chairman of the democratic national committee.

When Wilson announced his cabinet in 1913, it included the name of William Gibbs McAdoo as secretary of the treasury. Then, four years later, when, as a war measure, the government took over the rail system of the country, it was on McAdoo's shoulders that fell the burden of administering the lines.

McAdoo stayed on the job in Washington until February, 1919. He then resigned.

McAdoo's first wife was Miss Sarah H. Fleming of Chattanooga, Tenn. He was married to her while practicing law in East Tennessee. Mrs. McAdoo died in 1912.

On May 7, 1914, McAdoo was married at the White House to Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, daughter of the president. They have one child, a daughter.

RIGHT OF CANINES TO USE STREETS AT STAKE IN SUIT

St. Paul, June 21.—The rights of a dog in the streets of St. Paul are involved in a civil damage suit now in progress in district court.

Socks, the dog in question, now deceased, was a pedigreed Boston bull, once the property of Joseph Constanzo, better known as "Dago Joe Gans," who has attained some fame as a welterweight boxer.

Yesterday in District Judge H. O. Hanft's court Constanzo stepped into action in his effort to recover $600 damages for injuries to his pet from the Red Top Taxicab Co. and Al Fine, one of its employees.

It is charged that on Feb. 1 Socks was in the street on Chestnut St., between Exchange and Franklin Sts. The cab and the dog came together, with disastrous results to the dog.

SMITH OF NEW YORK

(By United Press)

New York, June 21.—If Alfred E. Smith of New York should be nominated by the Democratic National Convention next week and elected President in November, Horatio Alger's wildest fiction would be outdone by facts.

Literally it would be "from the Fish Market to the White House."

And Smith will go before the convention as one of the leading candidates in point of pledged votes.

Born the son of a truckman on the lower East Side of New York, Smith had few advantages in early life. He went to parochial school, and while still a youth, took charge of his father's trucking business. His first job was in the old Fulton fish market, where he got around to work at 6 a. m., except on Fridays, when 5 a. m. was his hour to begin work. Seeing no future or money in his work, he began to look for other work, and in 1895 he received his first political job, primarily, as he put it, because "it paid more money." This appointment was a clerkship in the office of the New York commissioner of jurors.

At that time Smith had no idea of making politics his vocation. His father died, and Smith's financial support was needed at home. So he stuck to his job and gradually became interested. In 1903 he was elected to the assembly. He continued in the lower house of the legislature for 12 years, serving as Democratic floor leader in that body in 1911 and 1912, and in 1913 became speaker, one of the most powerful positions in the state government.

As a Vote-getter

In 1915 he was elected sheriff of New York county, his popularity then first being noticed. He ran 20,000 ahead of the ticket. In 1917 he was elected president of the board of aldermen in New York, and the next year he was called on to head the Democratic state ticket. He was elected by approximately 20,000 majority.

His personal popularity was not realized, however, until 1920, when running for re-election he was defeated by 75,000. The figures give the best index of his standing with the voters as a whole, as Harding carried the state by over 1,000,000. Smith ran approximately that many votes ahead of the Democratic presidential ticket in 1920.

He announced his retirement from public life, and became head of a trucking corporation in New York City. In 1922, William Randolph Hearst began laying plans to capture the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and Smith, regarding Hearst as a personal enemy because of political attacks that had been made on him by the Hearst papers, set out to prevent it.

Going to the state convention, Smith was told he might be asked to run for U. S. senator on the ticket with Hearst. Smith replied that he would not go on any ticket with Hearst and that was the battle cry of his champions. Hearst was defeated before the convention balloted, and Smith was then nominated. His was the only name to be placed in nomination. His majority was 480,000 in the 1922 election.

Attitude Toward Prohibition

Smith attracted nation-wide attention in 1923 when the legislature passed and sent to him a bill repealing the Mullan-Cage act, the state's prohibition enforcement act. He let it lay on his desk 30 days—the constitutional limit—before acting, and then signed it. Regarded as "wet," his personal attitude is that the Volstead act should be modified and that, as it is at present drawn, it can never be successfully enforced.

He does not relish the thought of being known as a wet leader. He would much prefer to be known as a governmental expert of the progressive type.

Smith is personally very popular wherever known. He rarely forgets a name or face—a necessary attribute to a politician. Unquestionably, he is the most outstanding figure in public life ever turned out by Tammany Hall. Possessed of an admittedly keen mind—although his schooling was negligible—Smith is considered an expert on problems of government and his hobby is "welfare legislation." This state of mind was brought about by his experiences as chairman of a legislative committee which investigated factory conditions in New York state a number of years ago. Then it was found that women and children, some of the latter mere tots, were working 12 to 16 hours a day in canning factories for a mere pittance. Smith has never forgotten those experiences and observations and often refers to them.

Dislikes Pomp

Smith is democratic. He dislikes pomp and forms. He frequently walks from the executive mansion to the capitol—a distance of about a mile, without a bodyguard. During the alleged "red" activities in 1919 and 1920, while governor, he strenuously objected to a bodyguard being assigned him. But it was forced on him, although the detective so assigned, was never permitted nearer Smith's office than the corridor door. Since he has been in office this term the executive detective has been abolished.

His real hobby is his family. His mother died a few weeks ago. In addition to his wife, this is comprised of three sons and two daughters. Aside from his business cares, all his efforts are centered on making them happy.

Not for the Garden

Land tortoises are often purchased by amateur gardeners under the mistaken impression that they will clear the garden of insect pests; they are really vegetarians with a special weakness for lettuce.

lowing account of the Miller-Weimar nuptials:

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth C.
Weimar, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
John S. Weimar of LaCrosse, Wis., and Martin S. Miller, will be an event of June 7, in Olympia. Both are members of the Olympia High

THE "ARMY OF LITTLE BOYS"

(By United Press)
Kinston, N. C., June 21. — The death of Chief Justice Walter Clark of North Carolina, just recorded, recalled the "Army of Little Boys," the proudest page in the history of the Lost Cause.

In 1864, the man-power of the Rebellion was exhausted. North Carolina had already given more men to the Confederacy than any other state. Still the cry for soldiers came from the fast fading lines of Gray.
Whole battalions, then regiments, of lads still in their teens were called to the colors. They included boys from the cadet and grammar schools.
Many still in knee pants and hardly able to hold the heavy musket of that day. An old chronicler says: "The mothers of the state wept with one accord."

In the Halifax county contingent of the junior reserves was Walter Clark, 17 years of age. Clark was commissioned a major in the 70th Infantry Regiment, June 3, 1864.
Shortly afterward he became a lieutenant-colonel, the youngest officer to hold such rank in either army in the Civil War. He fought in the battle of Southwest, which culminated in the last important Confederate victory in North Carolina. He was one of the most highly respected jurists in the state.

1,500 MEN EMPLOYED THERE

Mr. Lyddon Attended American Railway Association Convention in Atlantic City

H. A. Lyddon, a former Brainerd resident, arrived Friday from Atlantic City, where he attended the annual convention of the American Railway Association. Mr. Lyddon visited a day with his brother, A. J. Lyddon, and left this afternoon for his home in South Tacoma, where he is superintendent of the Northern Pacific shops.

He stated that the railway association convention was very interesting.
Rail equipment was shown, as well as storekeepers supplies, a mechanical and a purchasing section. There were between five and six thousand railway officials in attendance. The convention was in session from June 11th to 18th.

The Northern Pacific shops at South Tacoma employ some fifteen hundred men, said Mr. Lyddon.
There is a reclamation plant in connection, similar to one proposed for the Brainerd shops, in which scrap iron is converted into bar iron and remoulded. Howard Kitchen, also a former Brainerd man, is in charge of this plant, which gives employment to some forty men. The electric power for the shops is furnished by the city. A steam plant at the shops is maintained for steam and heating.

Mr. Lyddon saw many improvements in Brainerd since his last visit.
He called on many old friends and visited the local shops during his short stay here.

Threatened Home of Vernon E.
White at 1005 Main Street

Fire at 7:45 Saturday morning threatened the former I. U. White residence, now occupied by Vernon E. White, at 1005 Main street.

The blaze is thought to have started around the chimney in the attic.
A misunderstanding in the street number took the firemen to 105 Main street, which delay gave the fire considerable headway.

The roof was badly burned and much damage done to the interior of the house from water, before the flames were brought under control.

One arrest was made, a truck driver being charged with driving over the fire hose.

The Brainerd tourist camp grounds seem to be gaining as much favor and praise this year as was accorded last season. Gil Keen, the efficient caretaker at the camp grounds, is in receipt of the following letter of appreciation from a party of tourists
from Rockford, Illinois:

Dear Sir: Just a few words concerning your tourist camp at Brain-through Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and the Northern part of Minnesota, and have yet to find a

We have paid as high as one dol-

LEGION HONORS BOY

Glenn Fraser, Grandson of Mrs. P.
M. Zakariassen, Makes Record
in High School

The following is clipped from the Virginia, Minnesota paper, under the heading, "Annual Legion Honor
Given To Boy With Envious Record
In School Life."

Glenn Fraser is a grandson of Mrs.
P. M. Zakariassen, of Brainerd. The newspaper article included a picture of the young man.

The annual American Legion award of the Mountain Iron post will be made to Glenn Fraser, outstanding leader of the Senior high school graduating class, according to announcement made today.

Although but 15 years of age Fraser has made an enviable scholastic record and has distinguished himself in every branch of extra-curricular work. Graduating with a total of 19 credits he has obtained an average of 87.50 in his four years of high school work and an average of 90.50 in his senior year.

His work in football and basketball has been of "star" calibre. During the present year his consistent work as half-back did much towards winning the Class B championship for Mountain Iron and as basketball center he played on a team feared by every school in the district.

He represented Mountain Iron in the sub-district oratorical contest during the present school year and his work in the title role of "Clarence" in the senior class play, more than fulfilled the expectations of the Mountain Iron public.

As president of the senior class and president of the student council of the Mountain Iron high school he has made valuable contributions to the social and intellectual life of his school.

Talent, a capacity for hard work, and a wholesome and attractive personality have combined to assure him success in any line of work he may elect to follow.

GARDEN INSPECTION

Committee Members Will Make First Inspection Trip Next Week

At a meeting of the Garden committee of the Northeast Brainerd Improvement League last evening further arrangements were made for the inspection of gardens which are entered in the contest by the children.

Lists of names were given each member to inspect and they will make their first inspection trip next week.

Advance reports show that the gardens had been somewhat backward owing to the cold spring, but are now growing rapidly. With plenty of moisture, sunshine and proper care by the children some good gardens have been developed during the past two weeks. There promises to be considerable rivalry for the prizes to be given at the "fair" the latter part of August.

The Tacoma papers gave the following account of the Miller-Weimar nuptials:

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth C. Weimar, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Weimar of LaCrosse, Wis., and Martin S. Miller, will be an event of June 7, in Olympia. Both are members of the Olympia High school faculty.

THE "ARMY OF LITTLE BOYS"

(By United Press)
Kinston, N. C., June 21. — The death of Chief Justice Walter Clark of North Carolina, just recorded, recalled the "Army of Little Boys," the proudest page in the history of the Lost Cause.

In 1864, the man-power of the Rebellion was exhausted. North Carolina had already given more men to the Confederacy than any other state. Still the cry for soldiers came from the fast fading lines of Gray. Whole battalions, then regiments, of lads still in their teens were called to the colors. They included boys from the cadet and grammar schools. Many still in knee pants and hardly able to hold the heavy musket of that day. An old chronicler says: "The mothers of the state wept with one accord."

In the Halifax county contingent of the junior reserves was Walter Clark, 17 years of age. Clark was commissioned a major in the 70th Infantry Regiment, June 3, 1864. Shortly afterward he became a lieutenant-colonel, the youngest officer to hold such rank in either army in the Civil War. He fought in the battle of Southwest, which culminated in the last important Confederate victory in North Carolina. He was one of the most highly respected jurists in the state.

She recently returned to the United States from her latest trip around the world—this time visiting Spain, Italy, Egypt, Jerusalem, India, China, Manchuria, Korea, Japan, Australia, Hawaii and other countries.

During the war Envoy Swartz, who is officially attached to The Army as a soldier at Chicago No. 1 Corps, served eighteen months with the American troops overseas.

Arrangements for meetings and talks by Envoy Swartz in Brainerd are being completed by Lieut. H. Toles, officer in charge of local corps and will be announced later.

Envoy Swartz will be in Brainerd Saturday and Sunday June 28 and 29.

Former Brainerd Man Is Superintendent of N. P. Tacoma Shops

1,500 MEN EMPLOYED THERE

Mr. Lyddon Attended American Railway Association Convention in Atlantic City

H. A. Lyddon, a former Brainerd resident, arrived Friday from Atlantic City, where he attended the annual convention of the American Railway Association. Mr. Lyddon visited a day with his brother, A. J. Lyddon, and left this afternoon for his home in South Tacoma, where he is superintendent of the Northern Pacific shops.

He stated that the railway association convention was very interesting. Rail equipment was shown, as well as storekeepers supplies, a mechanical and a purchasing section. There were between five and six thousand railway officials in attendance. The convention was in session from June 11th to 18th.

The Northern Pacific shops at South Tacoma employ some fifteen hundred men, said Mr. Lyddon. There is a reclamation plant in connection, similar to one proposed for the Brainerd shops, in which scrap iron is converted into bar iron and remoulded. Howard Kitchen, also a former Brainerd man, is in charge of this plant, which gives employment to some forty men. The electric power for the shops is furnished by the city. A steam plant at the shops is maintained for steam and heating.

Mr. Lyddon saw many improvements in Brainerd since his last visit. He called on many old friends and visited the local shops during his short stay here.

MORNING FIRE

Threatened Home of Vernon E. White at 1005 Main Street

Fire at 7:45 Saturday morning threatened the former I. U. White residence, now occupied by Vernon E. White, at 1005 Main street.

The blaze is thought to have started around the chimney in the attic. A misunderstanding in the street number took the firemen to 105 Main street, which delay gave the fire considerable headway.

The roof was badly burned and much damage done to the interior of the house from water, before the flames were brought under control.

One arrest was made, a truck driver being charged with driving over the fire hose.

BRAINERD HAS MODERN CAMP

Axel Stein Party Profuse in Thanks For Courtesies Extended

The Brainerd tourist camp grounds seem to be gaining as much favor and praise this year as was accorded last season. Gil Keen, the efficient caretaker at the camp grounds, is in receipt of the following letter of appreciation from a party of tourists from Rockford, Illinois:

Dear Sir: Just a few words concerning your tourist camp at Brainerd. We have traveled extensively through Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and the Northern part of Minnesota, and have yet to find a camp to compete with the one in your city.

We have paid as high as one dollar for camping privileges in some of the camps which were without any conveniences. We find your camp the most modern and the most sanitary of any we have visited.

No doubt all other tourists who have stayed at your camp feel the same about it as we do. We want to thank you for the courtesies extended us, and wish you every success with the camp this season.

LEGION HONORS BOY

Glenn Fraser, Grandson of Mrs. P. M. Zakariassen, Makes Record in High School

The following is clipped from the Virginia, Minnesota paper, under the heading, "Annual Legion Honor Given To Boy With Envious Record In School Life."

Glenn Fraser is a grandson of Mrs. P. M. Zakariassen, of Brainerd. The newspaper article included a picture of the young man.

The annual American Legion award of the Mountain Iron post will be made to Glenn Fraser, outstanding leader of the Senior high school graduating class, according to announcement made today.

Although but 15 years of age Fraser has made an enviable scholastic record and has distinguished himself in every branch of extra-curricular work. Graduating with a total of 19 credits he has obtained an average of 87.50 in his four years of high school work and an average of 90.50 in his senior year.

His work in football and basketball has been of "star" calibre. During the present year his consistent work as half-back did much towards winning the Class B championship for Mountain Iron and as basketball center he played on a team feared by every school in the district.

He represented Mountain Iron in the sub-district oratorical contest during the present school year and his work in the title role of "Clarence" the senior class play, more than fulfilled the expectations of the Mountain Iron public.

As president of the senior class and president of the student council of the Mountain Iron high school he has made valuable contributions to the social and intellectual life of his school.

Talent, a capacity for hard work, and a wholesome and attractive personality have combined to assure him success in any line of work he may elect to follow.

GARDEN INSPECTION

Committee Members Will Make First Inspection Trip Next Week

At a meeting of the Garden committee of the Northeast Brainerd Improvement League last evening further arrangements were made for the inspection of gardens which are entered in the contest by the children. Lists of names were given each member to inspect and they will make their first inspection trip next week.

Advance reports show that the gardens had been somewhat backward owing to the cold spring, but are now growing rapidly. With plenty of moisture, sunshine and proper care by the children some good gardens have been developed during the past two weeks. There promises to be considerable rivalry for the prizes to be given at the "fair" the latter part of August.

Although Mr. Wilson was a land soldier during the Civil War, he is much interested in the navy and is glad of the opportunity to see the big ships.

WHAT DID THE "HOOT" MEAN FOR WILLS?

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, June 21.—Coming events sometimes cast their shadows as well as shadows, before them.

Two men, one a tall, chocolate-color negro with steam rising from his sleek sides, the other shorter by a head, white-fleshed, both splattered with blood from the latter's wounds, panted and tugged and wrestled across a white splotch of canvas, kicking up clouds of resin with shuffling feet.

A glare of lights beat down mercilessly upon their straining forms, while all around was ebony black by contrast, save where dots of lighted cigars and cigarettes flickered like fire-flies across the panorama of half-seen faces.

No sound save the grunts of the fighters, the shifting feet, the slap and thud of blows on glove and shoulder; no cheers, because the negro was cutting the white man to ribbons.

From afar, way up on an elevated trestle that ran past the stadium, came a clear, warning "hoot-hoot" from a moving train. It cut through the comparative quiet of that June night like a knife. The crowd laughed, breaking the tension.

But to Harry Wills, steaming and straining there under the lights, the "hoot-hoot-o-o-o-o" must have sounded ominously like another "hoot" he once knew well—the "hoot-hoot" of the old Mississippi steamboat passing the levee.

If it's true that coming events cast their shadows, like their shadows, before—then Harry Wills heard something when that far-away "L" train whistled like a steamboat coming round the bend. Because Harry used to be a stevedore down in New Orleans, and right now it looks as though that was what and where he isn't going to be much of anything else but.

The negro may meet Firpo, but it won't draw a big gate.

When Wills failed to stop courageous little Bartley Madden that night in June he cost himself and a lot of other folks a lot of money.

He cost his venerable old mentor Paddy Mullins, who has stuck by him through thick and thin, the manager's share of the losing end of at least one big purse. He cost Tex Rickard money; he cost Luis Angel Firpo money; perhaps he cost Dempsey money.

But Wills couldn't help it. He just couldn't fight and abide by the rules at one and the same time. He knew the rules and observed them, for the first 12 rounds. He was woefully ineffective as a result.

ERICSSON PITCHES SHUT-OUT BALL

The Y. M. C. A. continued its winning streak Thursday night by whitewashing the Tigers, 13-0. The first inning spelled defeat for the Tigers. Benier started the game on the mound for the Tigers, and lasted one inning. During that period he walked seven men. These passes, coupled with a brace of errors and two hits, netted the Y. M. C. A. eleven runs. Credited for the victory, however, goes to the Y. Pitcher, Ericsson. "Bik" struck out thirteen Tigers. In two innings, the fifth and seventh, he fanned three in a row. Up to the fourth inning, no one reached first base off his delivery. Only twice did the Tigers threaten, each time with the bases loaded, but Ericsson tightened and held the opposition scoreless. Les Peterson stole home to bring in the eleventh run in the first frame. Dieckhaus gave the crowd a thrill with a pretty catch of a fly ball on a dead run. Molstad raked in everything within reach in the center garden. Van Walk took up the mound duty for the Tigers in the second inning, and pitched a pretty game, allowing but two hits in the six innings he worked.

RUM ODOR RULED OUT AS EVIDENCE

St. Paul, June 21.—The smell of moonshine cannot convict. The supreme court today reversed a conviction for possession of liquor, based on the fact that the agents had smelled the moonshine, and seen the man convicted dash a jar of liquid out of a window on to some rocks.

Joe Hipps, manager and bartender of the McNellis Athletic club, 11 So. 3rd St., Minneapolis, is the man who was convicted. He was sentenced to 30 days. Police purity squad agents raided the place Sept. 19, 1923, and admitted obtaining no samples of strong liquor.

Hipps is granted a new trial in today's supreme court decision.

Whitey Witt's bunting, if nothing else, will make it hard for Earl Combs, the slugging newcomer, to crowd the little man off the Yankees this year. Expert bunters aren't growing on every bush. On the contrary, those as expert as Witt are scarce as a season's pennant winners. WHAT DID THE "HOOT" MEAN FOR WILLS?

By FRANK GETTY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 21.—Coming events sometimes cast their shadows as well as shadows, before them.

Two men, one a tall, chocolate-colored negro with steam rising from his sleek sides, the other shorter by a head, white-fleshed, both spattered with blood from the latter's wounds, panted and tugged and wrestled across a white splotch of canvas, kicking up clouds of resin with shuffling feet.

A glare of lights beat down mercilessly upon their straining forms, while all around was ebony black by contrast, save where dots of lighted cigars and cigarettes flickered like fire-flies across the panorama of half-seen faces.

No sound save the grunts of the fighters, the shifting feet, the slap and thud of blows on glove and shoulder; no cheers, because the negro was cutting the white man to ribbons.

From afar, way up on an elevated trestle that ran past the stadium, came a clear, warning "hoot-hoot" from a moving train. It cut through the comparative quiet of that June night like a knife. The crowd laughed, breaking the tension.

But to Harry Wills, steaming and straining there under the lights, the "hoot-hoot-o-o-o" must have sounded ominously like another "hoot" he once knew well—the "hoot-hoot" of the old Mississippi steamboat passing the levee.

If it's true that coming events cast their shadows, like their shadows, before—then Harry Wills heard something when that far-away "L" train whistled like a steamboat coming round the bend. Because Harry used to be a stevedore down in New Orleans, and right now it looks as though that was what and where he isn't going to be much of anything else but.

The negro may meet Firpo, but it won't draw a big gate.

* * * * *

When Wills failed to stop courageous little Bartley Madden that night in June he cost himself and a lot of other folks a lot of money.

He cost his venerable old mentor Paddy Mullins, who has stuck by him through thick and thin, the manager's share of the losing end of at least one big purse. He cost Tex Rickard money; he cost Luis Angel Firpo money; perhaps he cost Dempsey money.

ERICSSON PITCHES

SHUT-OUT BALL

The Y. M. C. A. continued its winning streak Thursday night by whitewashing the Tigers, 13-0. The first inning spelled defeat for the Tigers. Benier started the game on the mound for the Tigers, and lasted one inning. During that period he walked seven men. These passes, coupled with a brace of errors and two hits, netted the Y. M. C. A. eleven runs. Credit for the victory, however, goes to the Y. Pitcher, Ericsson. "Bik" struck out thirteen Tigers. In two innings, the fifth and seventh, he fanned three in a row. Up to the fourth inning, no one reached first base off his delivery. Only twice did the Tigers threaten, each time with the bases loaded, but Ericsson tightened and held the opposition scoreless. Les Peterson stole home to bring in the eleventh run in the first frame. Dieckhaus gave the crowd a thrill with a pretty catch of a fly ball on a dead run. Molstad raked in everything within reach in the center garden. Van Walk took up the mound duty for the Tigers in the second inning, and pitched a pretty game, allowing but two hits in the six innings he worked.

RUM ODOR RULED OUT AS EVIDENCE

St. Paul, June 21.—The smell of moonshine cannot convict.

The supreme court today reversed a conviction for possession of liquor, based on the fact that the agents had smelled the moonshine, and seen the man convicted dash a jar of liquid out of a window on to some rocks.

Joe Hipps, manager and bartender of the McNellis Athletic club, 11 So. 3rd St., Minneapolis, is the man who was convicted. He was sentenced to 30 days. Police purity squad agents raided the place Sept. 19, 1923, and admitted obtaining no samples of strong liquor.

Hipps is granted a new trial in today's supreme court decision.

Safety Helmet Invented

The photograph shows Jockey S. Bullman at the Belmont park race track, wearing the latest "Jockeys' Safety Helmet." The new idea in this hat, for the use of jockeys while engaged in their piloting of thoroughbreds through the many races that make up the racing season, was conceived with the fact in mind of the fatalities that occurred when falls from mounts and hoof kicks caused many cases of concussion of the brain and in a few instances death to the rider.
